B. C. Whitney's "Ice of Spice."

The "Isle of Spice," a melodious musical comedy that has had a long and successful run in Chicago, Boston and New York, will be heard in this city at the opera house, Monday, May 21.

As is usual with all the Whitney productions, there is a wealth of scenery and beautiful costumes, a chorus of dainty maidens and some stunning show girls. The comedy throughout the piece is said to be unusually good and of the refined sort. The music, it is claimed, is of the tuneful variety, and ever interesting and quite likely to be heard long after the engagement here. The most prominent numbers are "The Goo Goo Man," "Ching Ling Foo," "Peggy Brady," "You and I," "Uncle Sam's Marines," "The Broomstick Witches," and the merry quartette, "How Can You Tell Till You Try?"

Resolutions.

Death comes equally to all and makes us all equal when it does.

Whereas, a solemn messenger has come again, Col. J. B. Mead Circle No. 1, Ladies of the G. A. R., sustains a great loss in the death of one of our faithful members, Sister Della Mann, and while we mourn her loss we cherish delightful recollections of our beloved sister, her kindness and charity, and all those noble traits that make woman the ideal gift of God. She has left an impression that will not cease though her person be invisible. Gone in life's bright happy noontime, Gone from friends that loved you well.

How we miss you in our circle. Tongue hath not the power to tell. Thou was ever kind and gentle—

Ne'er forgotten wilt thou be— Pleasant memories long will linger, Tho' thy face no more we see.

Therefore, be it resolved, that we extend to the husband and daughter our heartfelt sympathy in the grief that has come to their homes. When God in His wisdom grouped together his loved ones in His home circle, He placed there no firmer link than a mother's love and affection. We feel that her life has not been lived in vain, but will be a help and comfort to us in our longer pilgrimage until the day breaks and the shadows flee and we meet with our loved ones on that shore where we shall never say good bye.

Resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the bereaved family, spread on the journal of our circle, and printed in the Barre Daily Times.
